

Partnership Statement

Working Together with Next Generation Road Safety (NGRS) & Sustainable Indigenous Systems Global (SISG)

March 2025

We are proud to partner with two outstanding organizations – Next Generation Road Safety (NGRS) and Sustainable Indigenous Systems Global Pty Ltd (SISG) – as we work collectively to improve road safety, reduce road trauma, and support Indigenous-led, community-driven initiatives across Australia.

Partnership with Next Generation Road Safety (NGRS)

Website: www.ngrs.com.au

Next Generation Road Safety (NGRS) is a national communication platform established to connect State and Federal Governments with key stakeholders in the road safety sector. Founded by Richard Prowse following the tragic loss of his niece and nephew in the 2008 Mildura road accident, NGRS is committed to creating a coordinated approach to road safety by bridging the gap between government, community groups, and education providers.

Through our partnership with NGRS, we are contributing to a more unified, strategic response to road safety challenges by:

- Supporting improved communication between policymakers and local stakeholders
- Promoting access to effective driver education and training programs
- Raising awareness around road trauma and prevention
- Encouraging collaboration across public and private sectors

This partnership helps ensure that life-saving knowledge, training, and support are accessible to all Australians, particularly in high-risk and underserved communities.

Partnership with Sustainable Indigenous Systems Global (SISG)

Supply Nation Registered

Sustainable Indigenous Systems Global Pty Ltd (SISG) is an Indigenous-owned company that provides culturally grounded, systems-based solutions across community development, education, infrastructure, and environmental services. SISG's mission is to empower Indigenous communities by embedding traditional knowledge, values, and leadership into modern systems and processes.

As a Supply Nation registered enterprise, SISG is a leader in promoting Indigenous participation in business, procurement, and service delivery. Their work is rooted in self-determination, sustainability, and long-term impact.

Key focus areas of SISG include:

- Culturally Responsive Education and Training
SISG helps design and deliver programs that reflect and respect Indigenous perspectives, ensuring learning is inclusive and culturally safe.
- Community Infrastructure and Development
SISG supports projects that are locally led and environmentally sustainable, with a focus on long-term community benefit.
- Workforce Development and Economic Inclusion
Through ethical procurement and Indigenous employment strategies, SISG creates meaningful opportunities for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples.
- Strategic Partnerships and Capacity Building
SISG works closely with governments, businesses, and communities to co-design scalable, place-based solutions that align with Indigenous aspirations and priorities.

Within our partnership, SISG plays a vital role in:

- Ensuring our initiatives are culturally inclusive and community-informed
- Strengthening connections with Indigenous stakeholders and regions
- Enhancing the cultural integrity of our programs and services
- Contributing strategic insight grounded in lived experience and traditional knowledge

A Shared Vision for Safer, Stronger Communities

Together,, NGRS, and SISG are advancing a shared commitment to:

- Safer roads and communities through education and collaboration
- Meaningful Indigenous participation and empowerment
- Sustainable, inclusive development
- Strong partnerships that create long-term, community-led impact

We are proud of what we have achieved so far, and we remain dedicated to working together to build a safer, more inclusive future for all Australians.
